Dog and Pony Show, CORE New Art Space, Denver, CO

CORE New Art Space is an artist-run exhibition space created to maintain a dynamic, independent forum and venue for the contemporary arts. The space is shared by many Denver area curators, and I have therefore appeared many times in this gallery

Pussy Diptych

Pussy (Riot) / Pussy (Grabber)
50 cm x 50 cm ChromaLuxe and pen on aluminum (Ed 5 + 1 AP)

Description

This diptych contrasts the personalities of two well-known men by way of line quality: each face was digitally drawn and abstracted using an algorithm roughly based on their documented personality types. Please consider the following quote a short artist's statement about this series:

"Sometimes that shark, he looks right into ya. Right into your eyes. Y'know the thing about a shark, he's got... lifeless eyes, black eyes, like a doll's eyes. When he comes at ya, doesn't seem to be livin'... until he bites ya." —Quint, from Jaws (1975)

Dog & Pony Show: Sept 14 – October 1, 2017

The recent diptych, Pussy (Riot) / Pussy (Grabber) (2017) has been chosen for inclusion in an upcoming juried national exhibition, held at Core New Art Space in Denver, CO.

The definition of a Dog & Pony show is that it is "often over-staged performance, presentation, or event designed to sway or convince public opinion for political, (or less often) commercial ends." This national open entry show proves to be all that and more. From hundreds of entries from all over the country, juror Doug Kacena has selected pieces ranging from over the top political to circus-y fun, welcome to the "Greatest Show in Denver".
